LAUNCH OVERBOARD. H. Haskell's Boat Tried Out-Chelsea Boat Club Activity.

Owner Charles H. Haskell is the first to start the season for the Chel-sea Boat club launch owners, getting his big toat out of the shed and into the water this week. He has already made a trip down the river in the boat. William E. Geary, who was assisting when the boat was put into the water, got an involuntary ducking at the time, through a pry that he was working on giving away and letting him into the water. He got out without difficulty.

The float that is used at the boat house has also been put into the water and will be placed in position as soon as it has been calked and painted by Mr. Geary and his assistants. There are always a few launches anchored in the harbor each summer and the first of the season has already reached its station.

Jack the Peeper. Residents of the East Side, especially in those houses on Main street close to the bridge, are said to be stirred up over a Jack the Peeper who has been operating lately. Some of the residents have their suspicions of who the man is, but so far he has escaped any attempts to catch him.

EVERETT'S GAIN FROM CONNECTICUT The Congregationalist Pays Fine Tribute to Dr. L. L. West. A recent issue of The Congregationalist contained an article of much local interest regarding Rev. L. L. West, D.D., formerly of the Second Congregational church. A cut of Dr. West, headed the article, with the headlines, "Everett's Gain from Connecticut."

It says: After seven years in Second, Norwich, Conn., Rev. Lester L. West has heard the call of opportunity to First, Everett, Washington.

Thou shalt not covet even Dr. West, in Norwich and all that part of Connecticut where he will be missed. A in Norwich and all that part of Connecticut where he will be missed. A preacher of rare ability, his oratory carries the power of inspiration. The prophet and the poet are never far apart, and the New London association will miss the vision he has given of the classic poets of our language. May he do in Washington what he has done in Connecticut! The city and town of Norwich paid an unusual tribute to the departing pastor. The edifice failed to give comfortable quarters to all who came to hear the culogies justly given by the pastors of gies justly given by the pastors of neighboring churches, including nearly all denominations, and at the close came the final handshaking of nearly 1,000 friends. Seldom was any New England pulpit ever vacated with such

Mrs. Joseph L. Leffingwell.

Monday morning at 3 o'clock the death of Mrs. Joseph L. Leffingwell occurred at her home in Leffingwell, in the town of Montville, after an illness with the grip. Mrs. Leffingwell was born May 6, 1843, and when seven years of age went to live with John Lathrop in Bozrah. Her maiden name was Julia Switzs. She married Joseph L. Leffingwell thirty-seven years ago, whose death occurred about twenty years ago. All her married life has been spent in Leffingwell. For the past sixteen years Mrs. Leffingwell has been blind, but she bore her affliction with patience and fortitude. She was a member of the Bozrah Congregational church and held in high esteem. She leaves two sons, John and George Leffingwell, who live at home. Mrs. Joseph L. Leffingwell.

A few months ago the case was reported of a little girl living in Hackensack who was sent to three different hair specialists in New York for treatment of a scalp affection which they considered a contagious disease. One went so far as to have her hair shaved off. Later the trouble was found to be a simple case of eczema, which was cured in a few days by poslam. In the various forms of skin troubles in both infants and adults poslam produces beneficial results from the first application. Eczems, sene, herpes, rash, tetter, etc., yield readily to its remarkable curative properties. Occasional applications will quickly banish pimples, blotches and complexion blemishes and will relieve and cure itching feet, scaly soaip, humors, etc.
